Three Injured In Gorge Crash After Midnight

Car Jumps Road, Hits Pole, Two Trapped in Wreckage

Three persons were injured, two possibly seriously, when their car crumpled into a complete wreck after striking telephone pole near 41 Gorge Road West shortly after midnight.

A passenger, believed in the front seat, sustained bruises and lacerations but was able to walk from the wreck.

Injured were Mr. John Frew and his wife, Gladys, both 60, of 520 Walter Avenue, and Sydney Pegg, 46 Simms Avenue.

Mrs. Frew is in serious condition, the hospital reported. She sustained a multiple fracture of one leg, as well as possible head and left arm injuries, and shock.

Two most seriously injured were pinned in the wreckage. A woman passenger was given first aid in the vehicle as police pulled apart the wreckage of the rear seat where she was pinned.

The woman was believed to have suffered a broken leg, and possible back and chest injuries.

Police were forced to pull the front seat from its fixtures to free a man between the driver's wheel and the seat.

He was believed to have suffered head injuries.

SKIDDED ON WET ROAD

All victims were rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city police. Saanich and R.C.M.P. officers also attended. It was reported that the late model car was proceeding north on Gorge Road near a curve when it apparently skidded on wet pavement for a considerable distance and crashed head on into the pole.

Many Oppose Paper Seizure

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP).—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz said tonight "a great body of voiceless opinion in Argentina" opposes the Juan Peron government's seizure of his influential Buenos Aires daily, La Prensa.

The deposed editor and publisher gave a step-by-step account of La Prensa's closure, seizure and expropriation at a testimonial dinner in his honor sponsored by the Chicago and American Newspaper Publishers' Associations and other American newspaper groups.

He told a press conference earlier that the Peron government's report of an attempted revolution in Argentina came as no surprise to him because "all the people I know in Argentina and who talked with me are very discontented."

In a prepared speech for the newspaer executives, he said the eron government's original plan to destroy La Prensa—under guise of a labor dispute—had to be altered because of the reaction of public opinion in Argentina and abroad and the loyalty of the newspaper employees.

Canadian Scottish Rally for Two-War Reunion

This was only one scene as veterans of the 16th Battalion and the Canadian Scottish Regiment gathered last night for a big week-end reunion. Left to right, above, are Hon. Capt. J. L. W. McLean, present padre of the Scottish; W. H. Metcalfe, V.C., M.M. and Bar, from Portland, Me.; Hon. Capt. R. Seaborn, overseas padre of the Scottish; and Major A. M. McLennan, M.C. and Bar. Steady Progress Made By Ruler

LONDON, Sept. 28 (Reuters)—The King continued to gain strength today, though doctors still warned he would not pass the danger period before the end of next week.

The ninth bulletin since Sunday's operation on the King's lung said he had had another comfortable night and was making steady progress.

The King's lung resection could be complicated by secondary hemorrhage within a few days of Sunday's operation, one London doctor said, but the official bulletins indicated that nothing of that nature had taken place.

He added that the King's attendants would guard against a recurrence of circulatory trouble in his leg through inactivity. The King suffered from bad circulation and underwent a leg operation for it in 1949.

Britons found another encouraging sign of the King's recovery in the fact that Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh have decided to postpone their Canadian visit by only one week.

The presence of both the King's daughters, Princess Margaret and Princess Elizabeth, at the racing meet at Ascot today also showed nothing was amiss.

It is thought likely that Princess Margaret and the Duke of Gloucester will be the most active members of the five-member council of state empowered to transact the King's business during his illness.

The Queen has asked to be excused from these duties because of her anxiety about the King, it was reported, and Princess Elizabeth will be touring Canada. The Princess Royal will be at her home in Yorkshire for most of the near future.

Iran Crisis Seen Threat By Britain

Overrule Expulsion Edict Security Council Urged

LONDON, Sept. 29 (Saturday) (AP).—Britain today branded the British-Iranian oil crisis a threat to world peace and said she would urgently ask the United Nations Security Council to intervene.

Britain will call upon the Security Council to overrule Iran's order expelling 350 British technicians from the Abadan refinery area by Oct. 4.

A statement by the foreign office said the expulsion order "has created a situation which might well be thought to justify the use of force in order to preserve the British rights and interests involved." It added:

"His Majesty's government would, however, be reluctant to take any action which might have the effect of weakening the authority of the United Nations, on whose principles their policy is based.

"They have therefore decided that the right course in the present circumstances is to bring the situation urgently before the Security Council, which is the appropriate body to deal with matters likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security."

The statement said that arrangements are being made to summon a meeting of the Security Council as soon as possible.

In New York informed quarters said the U.N. Security Council probably will meet Monday or Tuesday on the British-Iranian oil dispute.

Britain warned that meantime, pending U.N. consideration of the case, she will take "all practicable steps" to stop Iran from selling oil now in the huge Abadan storage tanks to "third parties."

The Iranian government has claimed it is negotiating with countries, including Afghanistan, Czechoslovakia, and Poland for sale of the oil.

Shipping Strike Threat Eased

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28 (AP).—Threat of a shipping strike on Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coasts eased tonight as A.F.L. sailors and the Pacific Maritime Association reached agreement.

Waterfront observers reported agreement between shippers and that union would help settle a second dispute between shippers and the A.F.L. Masters, Mates and Pilots Union.

Capt. C. F. May, chairman of deck officers negotiating committees here and in New York, said the deck officers are demanding uniform contracts for all three coasts. If uniform contracts are not achieved before the present contracts expire Sunday midnight, May added, his union will strike shipping on all three coasts.

The agreement between sailors and the Pacific Maritime Association was announced tonight by federal mediator Omar Hoskins. He said details would not be revealed until the agreement is translated "into contract language."

Forest Closure End May Come Monday

Possibility of the forest closure being lifted from the Vancouver forest district before Monday was ruled out yesterday by Lands and Forest Minister E. T. Kenney.

If weather conditions continue to reduce the fire hazard as has been the case in the past few days there is every likelihood that a decision may be made to lift the closure on Monday, he said.

Meanwhile, hunters and fishermen must stay out of the woods.

The lands and forests minister explained that twice before the Forest Service had acted on honestly misleading meteorological reports and lifted forest closures with disastrous results because of new outbreaks of fires.

In one instance, a fire is believed to have been started by hunters on Mount Benson near Nanaimo immediately following lifting of a forest closure order.

Mr. Kenney intimated that no chances are to be taken this time.

Bitter Battle Won by Allies

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 29 (Saturday) (AP).—Allied troops won a savage two-day battle in central Korea Friday by storming a key height littered with the bodies of 703 Chinese Reds.

An all-day attack, however, failed to win a 3,500-foot height in the east and United Nations elements in two other sectors were forced into limited withdrawals.

Bradley Key To Peace Talks

TOKYO, Sept. 29 (Saturday) (AP).—The future of the suspended Korean truce talks appeared today to hinge on conferences between Generals Omar Bradley and Matthew B. Ridgway.

Bradley, chairman of the United States joint chiefs of staff, flew into Tokyo last night to discuss "all aspects of the situation" with the United Nations supreme commander.

Say Revolt Leaders Held in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28 (AP).—An army ministry communique said tonight that most of the leaders of the unsuccessful revolt against President Juan Peron have been arrested. Unofficial sources added that a total of about 80 persons were being detained.

The army ministry said General Benjamin Menendez, co-leader of the attempted coup, was among those under arrest.

Despite previous government communiques naming former General Arturo Rawson as one of the leaders of the revolt, the ministers of the interior and the army said late tonight there was no information that he was implicated.

Late tonight the Argentina Congress passed an emergency bill authorizing the president to reorganize all military forces within the next six months, to remove chiefs and appoint new ones.

The Chamber of Deputies approved an executive decree declaring that a state of internal war exists in the country and ordering the shooting of military rebels.

Peron issued an order to all military chiefs requesting a full report on the behavior of their units during the rising.

In two communiques issued tonight, President Peron thanked both the armed forces and the General Workers' Confederation for their loyalty in crushing the revolt.

Seaway Plan Inevitable Despite Kinks; St. Laurent

By The Canadian Press

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday night the St. Lawrence seaway project will be carried out but the manner has yet to be settled.

"We are going to have it," he told reporters at Quebec, where he arrived after a conference on the project with President Truman earlier in the day in Washington.

The prime minister told Truman that Canada is willing to build the seaway on its own if the American government or appropriate state authorities joined it in developing a corollary water power project, said a Washington dispatch.

A statement issued in the U.S. capital said both men agreed it would be "most desirable" to undertake the two projects jointly along the lines of the U.S.-Canadian agreement of 1941.

Congress has been arguing over the multi-million-dollar undertaking for 20 years. Legislation to authorize it at this session was pigeon-holed in a House of Representatives committee.

President Truman's qualified approval of a Canadian-built seaway was seen in Ottawa as giving that project an okay in principle but also putting the squeeze on Congress for fast action on a joint U.S.-Canadian scheme.

Mr. St. Laurent warned that the vast plan to open the Great Lakes to deep-sea shipping would take a long time.

"Like Rome, this won't be built in a day," he said.

Boilermakers Reported Considering Mediation

Two new developments appeared on the boilermakers' strike scene last night.

The Joint Shipyard Council said the Boilermakers' Union is considering a council offer to arrange for the services of a mediator to help settle the strike issue.

At the same time, it was disclosed that some local unions affected are holding special meetings to discuss the strike. Reports will be given to the council today when plans will be made for a mass meeting of all trades to be held at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow in Woodsworth Hall, 857 Pandora.

GAIN SUPPORT

The second development was an announcement from the boilermakers that the union has accepted a recommendation that facilities of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers also back boilermakers in the local dispute.

James Downie, western district representative of the brotherhood, conferred with a union committee last night. He said the brotherhood's facilities would include all those on the continent.

The four-day-old strike was called to back the boilermakers' demand for a 50-cent hourly pay boost from Yarrows Ltd. and Victoria Machinery Depot. The union rejected a conciliation board award of 25 cents hourly. Basic pay is $1.60 hourly.

United Front Urged in Vain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—President Truman reported tonight he has made futile attempts to get churchmen of all faiths to lay aside "petty and insignificant" differences to present a united front against Russia.

In a speech for a religious gathering—the Washington pilgrimage of American churchmen—Mr. Truman said the free, religious world is up against a threat from "a power that is hostile to all we believe in."

"It is a power that denies the rule of law, the value of the individual, and belief in God," he said.

The President did not elaborate on how he had tried to gain church unity.

Conservative Manifesto Promises Excess Profits Tax While Arming

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Winston Churchill's Conservative party surprised the business community today by promising to tax excess profits to help pay for Britain's rearmament if the Conservatives win the Oct. 25 election.

The party's manifesto pledged to halt the nationalization of industry and to denationalize iron and steel.

It called upon Britons to free themselves of socialism to increase prosperity at home and rebuild the nation's prestige abroad. The election "may well be the turning point in the fortunes and even the life of Britain," Mr. Churchill wrote.

ABNORMAL PROCESS

On the subject of excess profits, he said:

"We shall set our face against the fortuitous rise in company profits because of the abnormal process of rearmament. We shall accordingly impose a form of excess profits tax, to operate only during this exceptional period.

It said tax relief will be given in cases where profits are plowed back for renewal of plant and equipment.

Other sections call for:

1. Simplification of administrative machinery and reduction of government expenditure.

2. Giving house building a priority second only to national defense, with the aim of getting 300,000 new houses a year.

3. Increasing national output.

4. Retaining decentralized state control of the coal industry.

5. Reorganization of publicly-owned rail and road transport into regional groups of workable size. Private truckers "will be given the chance to return to business."

6. Maintenance of guaranteed agricultural prices and markets.

To Assure Success

Need More Workers For Chest Campaign

Community Chest preparations swung into high gear last night as final touches were put on plans for the one-night drive on Monday.

Co-chairman Milton King summed up current needs this way:

There is still a strong need for more volunteers.

It is urgent that divisional team captains complete the check of all members on their lists and report on their teams to H. B. Binny, secretary, at headquarters.

Volunteers can telephone G-0581 to offer their services.

"We need a large contingent of volunteers to make the drive a complete success," Mr. King said. "We hope we will have all the manpower we need Monday. We would like to remind men and women that the drive will only take a few hours of their time.

Will Advance Mail Pick-Up

Evening collections from downtown mail boxes will be made half an hour earlier starting Monday in a move to speed up mail service out of Victoria, Postmaster J. B. Sinclair announced yesterday.

B.C. Gain Seen As Gold Freed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 (CP).—The British Columbia mining industry is expected to benefit greatly from the decision of the international monetary fund to abandon its price curbs in the world sale of fabricated gold. (See stories on Page 10.)

Canadian mines are expected to be able to sell their gold at $45 or more an ounce if the federal government does not place any restrictions itself against gold sales.

The international monetary fund, which had pegged the price of gold at the official monetary rate of $35, United States funds, an ounce, anounced its decision from Washington today.

A finance department spokesman in Ottawa said that the government policy likely will be made next week.

ALL ABOARD

Keith Grey, the Esquimalt Minstrel, hopes to yodel his way into the Legislature.

News reports say he "launched a musical campaign before a small audience at View Royal Community Hall . . ."

"Campaigning as 'The Singing M.L.A.,' Mr. Grey opened his meeting with the playing and singing of his theme song, 'Come Away With Me' his [illegible]."

You may laugh, but I say more power to his larynx. His songs make as much sense as some of the chin music which has been broadcast from the hustings.

Many a politician would serve the taxpayers better if he dropped his speech and picked up a banjo.

* * *

If others follow Mr. Grey's lead and give us the music as well as the words, we are in for a happy time.

The Legislature may be turned into a concert hall, with Cabinet Ministers taking solo parts and most Conservative members playing second fiddle.

Instead of trading abuse, members will bombard one another with song and fell the opposition with volleys of sour notes.

Party caucuses will feature private chamber music concerts to which the public will not be admitted.

I look forward to hearing Conductor Byron Johnson and his Coalition Chorus render that fine old political ditty, "Painting the Clouds With Sunshine."

Keith Grey will give us the "Five Year Driver's License Blues."

Harold Winch will lead the C.C.F. Philharmonic Orchestra in "New World Symphony."

Buzz Bennett and his Dixieland Three will render that smash hit, "Hospital Insurance Scramble," featuring Tilly Rolston, the Song Bird of the West.

The program will conclude with the singing of the Provincial anthem, "God Save British Columbia."

Victoria S.P.C.A. won't officially celebrate National Cat Week.

"Cats are the greatest nuisance the S.P.C.A. has here," said secretary T. R. Myers.

National Cat Week doesn't matter. People who love cats and other animals are kind to them all year round.

Nobody cares much whether the S.P.C.A. observes National Cat Week or not.

Branches of the S.P.C.A. elsewhere think of animals in terms of how much help they need. The secretary's remark is strangely candid. Mr. Myers admits that his group thinks of animals in terms of how much nuisance they are.

The only humanitarian task in which they shine is the merciful execution of animals.

Logger Acquitted of Impaired Driving

William Hall Kendrick, a Parksville logging truck driver, yesterday became the first man to be acquitted in Victoria police court of a charge under the recent amendment to the Criminal Code governing driving while ability to do so is impaired by alcohol.

Kendrick was arrested by Const. Douglas Grant, Sept. 27, following an accident at Pandora and Douglas.

Magistrate H. C. Hall praised Kendrick and police for the manner in which they gave evidence. Kendrick conducted his own defense.

"I am impressed by the fact that the constables gave their evidence honestly. They are a credit to the force," he said.

Magistrate Hall also said he was impressed by the straightforward way in which Kendrick gave his evidence.

NOT INTOXICATED

During the trial Const. Grant said the accused was not intoxicated but "he had enough to drink to impair his driving ability."

Const. James Smith who had accompanied Const. Grant, said accused was unsteady on his feet when he got out of his car.

Driver of the other car, G. W. Somner, 762 Canterbury Road, said he could smell liquor on Kendrick's breath after the mishap.

Sgt. F. R. Woolsey, who was on duty in the charge office when Kendrick was brought in about half an hour after the accident, said that as a police officer, "I could not say his ability to drive was impaired."

TALKED TO FRIENDS

He said Kendrick after being questioned at the desk—walked over to his friends, "swung his leg over the back of a chair, sat down and started talking to them."

Sgt. Stanley Holmes, who was also in the charge office, gave similar evidence that "at no time that I was in the office was there any indication that his ability to drive was impaired."

Kendrick told the court he had attended a lacrosse game and later had a total of four drinks. He said he wasn't familiar with the town and didn't realize there was a traffic light at the corner.

Body of Woman Found

Body of a woman, identified by police as a Mrs. Grace Mack, was discovered on Dallas Road beach near the breakwater by two boys about 10.30 a.m. yesterday.

The dead woman, estimated between 50 and 60 years old, was fully clothed and had been in the water for some time, police said. There was no evidence of foul play.

The body was discovered by Ronald Ainey, 13, 44 San Jose Avenue, and his brother Lamont, 10, who notified E. H. Sweeney at the B.C. Pilotage office on Dallas Road. He phoned police.

About an hour later J. Atkins, 574 Simcoe Street, phoned police that he discovered a brown leather handbag on the beach near where the woman was found.

Papers in the handbag indicated it belonged to a woman who had been staying at the Y.W.C.A.

Police investigated and found that a Mrs. Mack had been living there since Sept. 20.

An official of the Y.W.C.A. identified the body.

Police are continuing their investigation.

Bomb Bases Provided By New Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (INS) —President Truman today signed a $6,000,000,000 military construction bill providing funds for secret A-bomb bases ringing the industrial heart of the Soviet Union.

The measure also authorizes expanded protection for key American cities, with fighter-interceptor bases to be fled in with a radar warning system girdling the U.S. and Canada.

Provision likewise is made for strengthened air defenses in Alaska and other likely points for Russian attack should the Kremlin decide to make war against the western Allies.

The construction bill brings to nearly $70,000,000,000 the total of defense funds already authorized by Congress or due for authorization to be spent in the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The giant project includes more than $1,000,000,000 for construction of air fields at strategic points in North Africa and elsewhere within atomic striking distance of Russia's vital industry.

The air force is to receive $3,500,000,000 for immediate expansion of its U.S. and overseas bases. The army gets $1,450,000,000 for construction and the navy receives $850,000,000 to enlarge its shore facilities.

Military spokesmen said the new program will give the U.S. 309 air bases in America and in foreign countries, an increase of 77 over the present figure.

Oddities

WEYMOUTH, England, Sept 28 (Reuters) — Sqdn. Ldr. Peter David Tunstall of the R.A.F. saw a traffic sign by the roadside reading: "Drive slow" — and promptly uprooted it.

Then he wrote across it: "This sign was pulled down by P. D. Tunstall of Weymouth, because he was disgusted at the display of bad English. Please rewrite and re-erect the sign."

But the county council put it back as it was and charged Tunstall with malicious damage.

"My action was not malicious but ill-considered. I feel that the wording of these notices should be in the King's English and not in the language of shop-stewards," he told the judge.

The judge fined him $10 with $5 costs.

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (Reuters) —East German women have been advised to brush their way to beauty.

The East Berlin newspaper National Zeitung urged them to "brush the entire body, beginning with the feet," with a stiff massage brush.

"You feel like a new person and are refreshed from your daily tasks," the newspaper said.

"Fingernails should be brushed with a soft rubber brush. Before doing your hair brush it thoroughly.

"Teeth and gums are best brushed with a stiff, dry brush. Eyelashes and brows require a stiff small brush dipped in castor oil.

"Take a soft toothbrush and give your lips a thorough brushing. You do not need lipstick."

Timepiece Bait Has Fatal Charm

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 28 (AP).—Whoever baited his hook with a 17-jewel timepiece and lost it to a fighting Columbia River salmon can get his watch back by identifying it.

The salmon died.

J. C. Alter of Kelso found the big salmon — nearly three feet long—at Willow Grove, west of here, yesterday. Alter said the watch was undoubtedly responsible for the fish's death. The watch was still running when extracted from the salmon's stomach.

You see, the fisherman who tried the odd bait was no fool. The watch was waterproof.

Test Special 10-Car Train in East For Royal Couple's Canadian Tour

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (CP)—The 10-car special train which will carry Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on their cross-country tour is being tested daily in the Point St. Charles shops of the Canadian National Railways.

The train is a combined effort of the C.N.R. and the Canadian Pacific Railway and shows the great detail put into the planning for the Royal pair's comfort.

The rear car is for the use of the Princess and her husband. The suite is made up of two bedrooms, a dressing room and a bathroom. The bed and dressing rooms of the Princess are painted shell pink and have brown carpets. Blending with this scheme are dust pink damask coverings and taffeta drapes. The bathroom is decorated with mauve tile and white fixtures.

In the Duke's bedroom the drapes and coverings are of blue and white glazed chintz. The woodwork is cream, and a light brown carpet covers the floor.

Back of the sleeping accommodation is a sitting room. Its main feature is a special [illegible] installed for the Princess' convenience.

This car and the one ahead belong to the Governor-General and were designed by Viscount Willingdon when he was the King's representative here more than 20 years ago.

The second car, borrowed from the Governor-General, contains the sitting and dining rooms. The walls are surf green, with furniture coverings and drapes of green.

The dining room, built to resemble a room in a small apartment, seats 12.

The train itself, unlike the Royal blue one which carried the King and Queen across Canada 12 years ago, is not painted a particular shade. The Canadian Pacific cars are red and the Canadian National cars are green.

Reds Now Deterred, Pearson Talk Hints

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (CP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson said tonight it may well be that Russia, faced with growing western strength and unity, "will now wish . . . to avoid open conflict."

But, he added in a major speech, it would be a purely tactical decision. Russia would pursue her aim of world rule through other channels, including more and more "hypocritical" peace appeals.

At least until the end of 1954, he suggested in a speech prepared for the National Council of Women, there will be acute danger. There would be danger for years after that.

To his suggestion that the west's rearmament may already have achieved its primary purpose of deterring general aggression, even though any letdown could be fatal, he added these sobering thoughts:

SPRINT, MARATHON

"We are competing in both a sprint and a marathon . . . it may be that if we have achieved our defense objectives by, say, the end of 1954, we will have surmounted the most acutely dangerous period.

"That, however, may be followed by the longer-term phase of the conflict, the marathon race, which may last for many years. During this period, we must refuse to yield to the temptation to adopt the politicies or even the tactics of those who would destroy us.

"We must maintain, not as an emergency measure but as a normal part of national life, the level of defense effort required. But we must also prove to our peoples that our civilization is worth this effort. While concentrating on the immediate danger of military attack, we must hold out the hope—indeed, do more than merely hold it out—of further social and economic progress."

BULKY HOBBY

Liberal Chief Assails P.C.'s

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Sept. 28 (CP)—H. G. T. Perry, president of the British Columbia Liberal Association, in an address to the Prince Rupert Liberal Association last night condemned some Progressive Conservative members of the Coalition government.

He said recent statements by Conservative members were making it necessary for the Liberal leader of the government to consider whether he was or was not the real leader of the government.

Mr. Perry quoted Herbert Anscomb, Progressive Conservative leader, as saying that his party would do battle in the next election with the Liberals as their opponents.

"I am astounded," Perry declared, "that even then Mr. Johnson (Premier Byron Johnson) had not called for Mr. Anscomb's resignation."

Mr. Anscomb had also said he had not favored the present hospital insurance plan, after having said nothing in opposition to it at the time the Legislature made it law, said Mr. Perry.

Hectic Courtship Ends in Marriage

CLOQUET, Minn., Sept. 28 (INS) — Blonde film actress Barbara Payton and movie star Franchot Tone climaxed a stormy courtship by being married tonight in a civil ceremony at the home of Miss Payton's aunt, Miss Muriel Redfield in Cloquet, Minn.

Probate Judge Ed J. Johnson of nearby Carleton first waived the five-day waiting period required under Minnesota laws and then performed the ceremony.

Strike by Minority Vote

ASIDE altogether from the wage demands involved, there is an aspect of the current strike of shipyard boilermakers in Victoria which has disturbing connotations. This is the now demonstrated fact that a minority of workers affected by a dispute can bring about a work stoppage fulfilling the legal requirements of the Industrial conciliation and Arbitration Act.

The situation is that of 458 members of the boilermakers' union, employed in two plants, only 45 per cent actually voted to strike; yet the strike is recognized as legal. This comes about by the fact that, while 210 workers voted for and 171 against striking, 72 abstained from voting and five spoiled their ballots. Inconclusive as the result is, the requirements of the I.C.A. Act apparently are deemed to have been met so far as the union as a whole is concerned, because Section 33 gives legal recognition to strike action where "the majority of such employees who vote have voted in favor of a strike." There is no obligation on all members to vote.

In the case of the V.M.D. unit the legality of the strike is established, because there were 127 affirmative votes against 89 negative, with three spoiled ballots. In the case of Yarrows, however, the situation is altogether different. There the voting was 83 for and 82 against striking, with two spoiled papers. Thus a majority of those who voted did NOT vote to strike. Only if the union as a whole is taken as the "unit" mentioned in the act is an affirmative established.

It is the matter of abstention, however, which seems to call chiefly for re-examination of the provisions of the act. Disregarding physical inability to vote through illness or some other cause, when a man refrains from voting on an issue affecting his livelihood it is a reasonable assumption either that he has not made up his mind and therefore cannot be said to favor the action proposed, or that he disapproves but does not wish to impede his fellow workers who do approve. Where there is a large number of abstentions, therefore, they would appear to reflect a negative attitude.

Whether this reasoning is accepted or not, the fact remains that the wording of the section has permitted 210 workers out of 458 to call a strike throwing 1,200 men in their own and allied trades out of work. That may conform to the legal wording of the act, but it is very much open to question that it complies with the intention of the legislature. Ambiguity is created by the different tenses used in the section quoted above, and it could well be that the legislature intended the words "employees who vote" to mean those who are eligible to vote.

There has been assurance that the act as a whole will be reopened for review by the House, and this is an aspect of the fair labor practices it was designed to establish which might well be given closer study.

Co-Operation Is Essential

TO ANYONE conversant with the full potentialities of the St. Lawrence seaway scheme, any suggestion that Canada might proceed on its own to do half of the job leaves a great deal to be desired. At its realizable best the St. Lawrence project would be an all-time acquisition for both the United States and Canada; giving deep-sea access to the Great Lakes, vast power resources and a declared and fully co-operative concord between the two nations to further the tremendous advantages of the seaway for their mutual benefit. On a dollars and cents basis alone Canada would find it extremely difficult to put up money in sufficient sums to carry out a worthwhile scheme by itself. For that reason the visit of Prime Minister St. Laurent to Washington for informal talks with President Truman on the subject is of much interest.

Mr. Truman's sympathy with the St. Lawrence seaway plan has long been known, but he is not in command of Congress. Nor can there be any thought of coercion. Only two nations in full and absolute agreement to go ahead together with the seaway on a definite program through the years could possibly bring to fulfilment the full potential of that scheme. It would be a pity, through haste now or any other reason, to precipitate a false start on the seaway; but if the result of these discussions brings these two countries closer together on a great vision, Mr. St. Laurent's mission will be well worth while.

Open-Face Method

FORMER Mayor Carl Pendray, now chairman of the Memorial Arena Commission, has given the right lead in connection with the vexed and continuing troubles with that unhappy structure. No purpose whatever has been served by the hush-hush treatment with discovered or suspected faults in the arena or its equipment. It is far better for all concerned that the commission go through with the current survey, ascertain what is really at fault, and take final steps to put things right.

Long ago if the corporation had been wise it would have taken the final accountancy of the whole structure and its equipment to the courts for a legally reviewed settlement. Having missed that opportunity, all that can be done now is to make the best of a bad bargain and write off the loss to experience. No amount of wishing can bring back the $500,000 or so by which the job has exceeded the orginal intentions of the citizens.

With all its defects, the arena is capable of being used, and has been put to growing use for two seasons. If the icemaking plant is renovated now, and handled with a little more care in the future, it should stand for years to come. As much can be said for the floor, the spray-pond, final painting and the rest of the past or present irritations. The central aim should be to get the arena in service to the public and keep it that way. In this, the open-face method by long odds will be the best.

B.C. SALES TAX

Sir,—The time is surely auspicious for Mr. Anscomb to overhaul his so-called 3 per cent tax, which is really over 6 per cent on items of 15 cents and so hits all the people of lower incomes who cannot always afford to buy in large quantities.

Mr. Anscomb must have known this result when he insisted on the tax being applied on the low sum of 15 cents and it is from these small items that his huge surplus has been obtained. To quote an old adage, "every mickle makes a muckle."

The alteration in this matter is long overdue and it is to be hoped will be taken in hand promptly.

ESQUIMALT BY-ELECTION

Sir,—Considering the fervour with which the coalition is stumping the Esquimalt riding, and the assurance displayed at the meetings of the perfection of their ruling, many have queried as to why they left the electors of the riding so long without a representative of their choosing.

Has the last vestige of democracy faded out of the British Columbian political picture and the dictatorial coalition become a closed shop?

It would seem that the so-called Liberal element has swallowed up any, and all, opposition to date that has stood in its way. Parliament is not informed any longer on the projects that are now being forced from the potential wealth of the province in the interests of foreign investors, meaning of course that all profit is drifting into the dividends of the new imperialistic class that is in the making and which is aspiring to greater heights than ever before, namely, the control of the finance of every nation.

One has noticed that in all countries where coalitions of politicians have been forced on people it is taking the shape of the last rung of the ladder to climb to dictatorship entirely. . . .

A state of world slavery is not an exclusively Bolshevik inspiration. The coalition of political parties is furthering that end for the democracies. We have reached the last stop sign.

ELLEN HART.
Chipperfield Farm, R.R. No. 1, East Sooke, Victoria, B.C.

TELEPHONE SERVICE

Sir,—How much longer are citizens of Victoria to endure the antiquated and inefficient telephone service provided by that monopoly, the B.C. Telephone Company?

There are some who have waited for months to have telephones transferred and there are others who have waited for years for a new installation. The excuses offered by the telephone company—no room on the cables, long waiting list, expansion delayed by late war, etc.—lack of competition might be added. How is it that the B.C. Electric can keep pace with the expansion of the city and also give excellent service?

Surely a city the size of Victoria which prides itself on being progressive deserves a better telephone service. There is no tardiness on the part of the B.C. Telephone Company in increasing their rates but service, I suppose, can await their pleasure.

(MRS.) GRETA B. STEVENSON.
2761 Foul Bay Road, Victoria, B.C.

CITY LIMITS

Sir,—May I call attention to a really pressing need, and that is a "City Limits" sign at Dominion and Esquimalt Road; also a repainting of the crosswalk at the same spot.

It was painted last year, but Esquimalt or the city did not have it touched up this year.

The patrolman too, must have seen many times how badly a crosswalk marking is needed there. There is no crosswalk proper between William at Russells and Head Street, and with the ever-increasing road traffic one doesn't have to be very dull to know how much better they would feel if protected by such markings.

There is a small grocer, operating at the bus stop. Children especially would be a little more protected.

"Good heavens — what if we should win!"

Flash-Back

By FRANK KELLEY

THE occasion when I first heard John A. Macdonald talk about "National Policies" still lingers in the memory, reminder of a happy knack possessed by a few Canadian greats when political platform oratory was not rated any too convincing in most circumstances. That memory is still vivid now, as it recalls some of the aspirations he voiced in his own way from a platform erected especially for the occasion in the skating rink of North Sydney town, Nova Scotia.

John A. Macdonald, although not native born, was a step ahead of most Canadians when he had to impart something of political significance. The great campaigner could say what he wanted to say in a more lucid and convincing manner than the colleagues with whom he fathered Confederation. His opponents used to charge him with being a political opportunist. Maybe he was. But what he had to say about a future Canada and the Fathers of Confederation on that occasion was, as I remember, apparently wholly sincere.

* * *

True, we used to hear our elders tell of what Joe Howe and other favorite sons of the Maritimes had in mind in the same general direction of unity; and everything added up to loyalty to Canada and the British connection. Whether it was just local politics or something better is neither here nor there now; but our school teachers, having more time, would dramatize the possibilities visioned by the leaders of the day for the benefit of the pupils in all grades.

In this connection political leaders and "the teachers of the young idea" seemed to imply, without any stressing or singling out of any particular race, that discrimination, because of color particularly, was something to be shunned. In fact, as a result of this teaching maybe, I never heard it said that the white man was "top-dog" in every way and all others inferior. Neither do I remember—many Canadians of French descent lived on Cape Breton—any serious differences over racial origins there.

* * *

It was much the same, I found, during some school days in Victoria and after. No one of any consequence among the white citizens seemed to look upon a colored person or Asiatic as being of inferior status. This persisted for quite some time or until labor, jealous of its growing strength and for some economic reasons, managed to have immigration barred on both sides of Canada. That was not good. It helped to promote terrible wars, the end of which is apparently still a long way off.

Canada has come a long way in some things in the meantime. Certainly it would never have attained its present stature, great as are its resources, if it were not for the British connection and its place in the British Commonwealth. One fact persists, too, it seems. While the Fathers of Confederation had some ideas of national unity in the formative years, evidences of a national spirit across Canada except where politicians are the spokesmen, are not much in the spotlight today.

* * *

Nor can there be until such time as there is a much better understanding between the French and English speaking peoples, both of whom have equal rights, if they want them, to their institutions and cultures. We cannot get very far without the realization of a truly national spirit.

As one has said before, geography is a hard matter to beat; and because of it the ultimate destiny of Canada may be political as well as physical union with the United States. Whether this will be altogether good for North America is something to be pondered over. Always an admirer of the Republic and what its Founding Fathers accomplished, one can still be pardoned for hoping that Canada will remain independent and go along with her great neighbor in some workable spiritual alliance.

Reporting From Ottawa

THE most hallowed documents of American freedom, the originals of the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution, are now protected from the ravages of time in hermitically sealed vacuums behind heavy plate glass.

No light which might fade them is allowed into the Library of Congress at Washington. Never before have documents been given such elaborate protection. Expense is no object to American ahchivists striving to preserve these keepsakes of their nation's difficult birth for the inspiration of future generations of Americans.

But what of our Canadian historical treasures? What of the documents which record the birth of the Canadian nation? Do they still exist? And if so, are they protected adequately from deterioration and destruction?

* * *

Canada has, of course, no declaration of independence unless it be the Balfour Declaration of 1926, a British government affirmation that the members of the Commonwealth are equal in status.

However, Canada does have a constitution, the most important part of which is the British North America Act of 1867. Although an act of the British parliament, it was drafted by Canadians—the "Fathers of Confederation".

One of the foremost of those fathers was Sir John A. Macdonald. And in the public archives at Ottawa, among some 500 bound volumes of Sir John's papers, are two early copies of the bill. One is a complete first draft in Sir John's own handwriting, and the other a printed copy of the draft bill as introduced in the British parliament, with marginal notations in Sir John's hand.

Of equal historical value are the original resolutions on confederation adopted at the Quebec Conference of 1864, which also repose in the archives. Along with them is what is believed to be the only surviving copy of the original printing of the Royal proclamation of 1867 declaring that Canadian union should become a fact on July 1, of that year.

* * *

These documents have never been regarded with reverence comparable to that which Americans bestow on their instruments of independence at Washington. Every schoolboy in the States knows the dramatic story of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, has seen photographs of the document, has puzzled over the signatures of John Hancock, Benjamin Franklin, Patrick Henry and all the other determined colonists whose courage laid the cornerstone of American freedom.

But how many Canadian school children have seen the documents which brought their country into being, or even photographs of them? For example, the first three Quebec resolutions, which set forth the broad basis of confederation? Or the first page of the draft bill which Sir John laboriously scratched out with new-fangled steel pen on fine rag paper?

Few indeed. For their story is not dramatized. They are not used to symbolize Canadianism. They repose in no national shrine—protected and revered, engendering patriotism, making Canadians proud of being Canadians.

Instead, they lie buried in the long-neglected Dominion Archives at Ottawa, unprotected by any extraordinary measures, and unknown to and unseen by the people of the nation they established.

Canada could do better than this by its historical treasures.

Horse Laughter

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

WE never saw a purple cow, either. But now we learn of a blue cow—only it isn't a blue cow any more; it's a blue horse.

Anyway, it's a big, wild animal of the antelope family which has caused a lot of damage to Indian crops. Known as a "blue cow," it has been left free to multiply in a land where all cows are held sacred. So the Indian government has changed its name to "blue horse," and now the peasants feel free to kill it.

Before Americans laugh too loud or too long they might recall how, during World War I, sauerkraut could be patriotically eaten in the United States only when it was rechristened "liberty cabbage." In the somewhat similar emotional climate of World War II the Japanese cherry trees in Washington bloomed into "Korean" cherry trees. And today any sort of honest nonconformist need only be called a "Red sympathizer" by his political opponents and some folk will consider shooting too good for him.

Thus fiction fraternizes with fact, the purple cow with the red herring, the mysterious East with the hilarious West, and both come up with a horse of another color.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

The suave diplomat's game of being everybody's friend somehow recalls the joker who placed an ad in a matrimonial column and got one reply—from his fiancee.

Judge—How many times have you been in court?

Prisoner—Only once, your honor.

Judge—How long ago was that?

Prisoner—About twenty years.

Judge—H'm. That's not a bad record. Where have you been?

Prisoner—In the penitentiary.

PUNISHMENT

A Copenhagen court has "sentenced" to 64 bottles of Pilsener beer a brewery employee who had been caught driving the company truck while intoxicated. The accused had readily admitted he had had eight bottles of the strong malted beverage on the day he was apprehended, but claimed he had followed the same liquid regime for 30 years without ever being drunk. Doctors consulted by the tribunal declared it was quite possible for men with particularly steady nerves to consume large quantities of alcohol and still keep perfect control of their reflexes. As a result the judge decided to submit the hardy truck driver to the following exam: for a week and a day he must daily drink eight bottles of Pilsener during his normal working hours and pass soberness tests at any time requested. If he succeeds, he will be acquitted of the drunk-driving charge.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

While Visiting Britain

EVERY once in a while, everybody who can read, and think about it, should read the first few pages of Henry Thoreau's "Walden"; and at least get as far as the unforgettable passage in which Thoreau says the mass of mankind lead lives of "quiet desperation". Though written more than a 100 years ago, "Walden" is as fresh as though written today.

* * *

If a sense of desperation was in the human spirit a hundred years ago, what must our state be now? Yet I have just come in from a long walk through some miles of residential streets in a far and troubled city. Good, prosperous streets and poor, hard-going streets. And the feeling grew, and could not be denied, that the mass of mankind is not really desperate at all, but on the whole interested if not happy, involved if not excited, concerned if not eager. When you look at a small group of people, you might get an impression of desperation, even if that small group is trying to have fun. But if you look at a great mass of humanity, all sense of desperation vanishes. This must baffle all reformers.

* * *

As you walk the quiet streets, with all those endless rows of small homes, all of them looking so content; the small shopping streets, with all the people so happily going in and out, or staring eagerly in the windows; the side streets, endless, compact; and if, as you walk, you meet the men and women coming home from work, and look at their tired and pleasant faces, you get a sense of the inexhaustible interest in life that pulses eternally in the human species. But you have to read Thoreau before you get the full implication of the deathless beauty of life itself.

Festival Ends

By SYLVIA SHORT

North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON, Sept. 28.—At 10.30 on Sunday evening the great exhibition on the South Bank of the River Thames will be closed, and the Festival of Britain officially will have ended. Subsidiary exhibitions and events in London, and other parts of the country, may run for a few days or even weeks past this date, and the festival pleasure gardens at Battersea certainly will be open until November 3, but the Festival of Britain, as such, will be considered to have come to an end.

* * *

The most remarkable feature of the festival has been its widespread nature. The achievements, past and present, of the whole nation have been on display all over the United Kingdom and about 2,000 places, virtually on their own initiative, have contributed little festivals to the greater. Great historic centres, such as Canterbury and Worcester, have organized their own festivals of drama and music; Wales ran a festival of music in Swansea, and, in Scotland, Edinburgh's annual international festival of music and drama enjoyed an even greater success than in past years. A traveling exhibition visited towns all over Britain, and a festival ship visited the major ports.

* * *

Britain certainly has been "at home" to the world, and, in the first seven months of this year, 407,150 overseas tourists visited this country, as against 368,742 in the same period last year. Though this is an increase, the actual number of tourists from the United States decreased from 78,140 in 1950 to 72,513 this year. This decrease is not peculiar to Britain; reports from all over Europe indicate a sharp decline in the number of American tourists visiting the continent this year, the reason apparently being the taut international situation, and, particularly, the situation in Korea. War nerves, though, apparently did not affect countries in the British Commonwealth and an increase was noticeable in the visitors from the dominions and colonies, 87,600 of them coming to Britain this year, as against 83,660 in 1950.

By the end of September about 8,250,000 people will have visited the South Bank exhibition, and more than 8,000,000 the festival pleasure gardens; about 500,000 school children have gone in organized parties to the South Bank; in fact, virtually every member of the population has visited an event of some kind, either locally or in the capital.

* * *

The success lies mainly in the enormous amount of international good will which has been created by visitors from abroad, who have been impressed by the fact that, in the midst of economic and political crises, Britain can find the time, money, and inclination to run a nation-wide festival and run it well.

From the beginning, there was a definite directive from the government to the organizers, who, incidentally were drawn from all political parties, that no politics whatever, in any shape, form, or color should enter into the presentation of the festival, and this directive was rigidly followed. The festival has been quite apart from political strife, and has been supported by all parties, not excluding the British Communist Party, which applauded it in The Daily Worker.

Chest Clearing Decks, Broom Sent to Mainland

Getting ready to "shoot the works" for $240,000 in Monday night's fund drive, Victoria Community Chest officials are busy clearing the decks for action.

A broom has been sent by express to Mayor F. H. Jackson of New Westminster.

The Royal City mayor will use the broom to sweep the ice at the [illegible] city hockey match as a self-imposed penalty if Victoria collects more money per capita on Monday than New Westminster.

The Community Chest is still canvassing for canvassers. More volunteer help can be put to good use, officials say.

OPENING GUN

One of the opening guns will be fired today when Owen McLeod, Langford resident suffering from multiple sclerosis, makes an appeal on behalf of the Community Chest at 8.10 p.m. over CJVI.

A surprise donation to the fund arrived yesterday from Wildwood, New Jersey, where a visiting Victorian wrote that he "wouldn't be home in time to turn on the porch light."

Replying to queries as to cost of administration of the drive, officials point out that it costs slightly more than five cents to raise $1.

No workers outside the office staff are paid and nothing is spent on entertainment.

SIXTEEN SERVICES

Sixteen member services share the budget on a percentage basis. They are: Family and Children's Service, 33.94 per cent; Boy Scouts' Association, 3.84 per cent; Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 2.30 per cent; Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, 4.85 per cent; Y.W.C.A., 8.18 per cent; Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital, .77 per cent; John Howard Society, 1.81 per cent; Citizens' Recreation Rooms, .83 per cent; St. Vincent de Paul Society, 1.27 per cent; Y.M.C.A., 12.52 per cent; Community Welfare Council, 3.04 per cent; Social Service Index, 1.03 per cent; Esquimalt Friendly Help, .54 per cent; Columbia Coast Mission, .66 per cent; Victorian Order of Nurses, 9.62 per cent; Sunshine Camp, 3.75 per cent.

Administration and campaign costs take 11.61 per cent of the budget.

To Examine Heating Code

City's New Smoke By-Law Up for Approval Monday

The city's new smoke by-law and heating code will come before City Council's legislative committee Monday.

The smoke by-law probably will be approved.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Acting Mayor Frank Mulliner, committee chairman, "the by-law is ready to be passed on to council."

The heating code will be presented to the committee for the first time. No action will be taken until committee members have had time to study it.

The committee hopes to have both laws enforced by one inspector, who would be appointed by the city manager. In the meantime, Mr. Mulliner said, the city could probably find a man to enforce the smoke by-law on a job-to-job basis.

Aorangi Held Up By Yawl Search

Time spent searching for a yawl reportedly in distress off Cape Flattery spoiled what might have been a record run from Honolulu to Victoria by the trans-Pacific liner Aorangi.

The big Canadian-Australasian Line's ship reached Ogden Point docks about 6.30 a.m. yesterday. She had originally been expected at 9 the previous night.

From early afternoon until late night the liner searched for the 50-foot yawl, then was relieved by units of the U.S. Coast Guard.

The crossing was excellent, said Capt. W. Whitefield. The ship had averaged 17 knots or better. She carried 319 passengers, 14 of whom left here. The ship left at 9.30 a.m. for Vancouver, where she will spend a week before starting the return voyage.

CARGO

In addition to the usual amounts of mail, the ship unloaded small quantities of canned goods and wool. Passengers disembarking here included Mrs. Gladys Leach and her two sons, of Duncan; John Edward Bennett, Ganges; Mrs. Freida MacAllister, Victoria, and Miss Ruth James, of Australia, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Cowan, Blenkinsop Road.

Heading a list of prominent passengers was Rt. Hon. Thibaudeau Rinfret, Chief Justice of Canada. Leaving Canada late last May he spent five weeks in London sitting on the judiciary committee of the Privy Council. Later he went to Sydney, Australia, to represent Canada at a Commonwealth jurists' convention. The Chief Justice is 72. He took advantage of the Aorangi's brief stopover here to see his grandson, Claude, an R.C.A.F. cadet at Royal Roads. Entering law practice 50 years ago in Quebec, Chief Justice Rinfret has held his present important post since 1944.

Saanich Youth Hurt in Mishap

Solon E. Low Says B.C. Ripe for Social Credit

The people of British Columbia are being fired with a desire to put an honest government into power, Solon E. Low, national Social Credit leader, said here yesterday.

At a luncheon address he declared: "They don't want people who talk one way and act another."

Social Credit, "a way of life based on Christian principles," will preserve democratic freedoms and the people's right to choose, he said.

Mr. Low asserted the reaction of the people of B.C. to Social Credit today is like that which prevailed in Alberta in 1933 and 1934 "when corruption in the government of Alberta nauseated the people."

B.C. will produce a leader today like the "godly man" who arose in Alberta at that time (the late William Aberhart) to lead the Social Credit movement to victory, stated Mr. Low.

SOLON E. LOW

GREATER PARTICIPATION

The national leader urged greater participation by individual Social Crediters in the activities of the party.

"The people want a strong organization that can put a Social Credit government in power in B.C. in the next election," he declared.

If an election is not "sprung too soon" and if a sufficient number of individuals take off their coats and go to work the objective can be accomplished, stated Mr. Low.

Mr. Low gave this advice to Social Crediters: Soften the people up with the radio; appeal to the people; warm them up; give them facts, and don't go outside the realm of truth to criticize the other fellow.

The Social Credit leader addressed a public meeting last night in the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, and outlined aims and objectives of his party.

Changes in Schedules Announced by C.P.R.

Changes in some schedules of Canadian Pacific Coast Steamship Service will be effective Sunday, general passenger agent H. C. James announced yesterday.

The winter schedule between Vancouver and Victoria will see a sailing of Princess Marguerite, or Princess Patricia, from Vancouver at 9.40 a.m., standard time, and arriving at Victoria at 1.55 p.m. Princess Joan and Princess Elizabeth will operate the Victoria-Seattle service, leaving Victoria at 10 a.m. and arriving at Seattle at 3.15 p.m.

Night service between Vancouver and Victoria will operate from Vancouver and Victoria at 11.59 p.m., with arrivals at 7 a.m.

NANAIMO SERVICE

The Princess of Nanaimo and Princess Marguerite or Patricia operating the Vancouver-Nanaimo service, will leave Vancouver at 11 a.m., 6 p.m. and 8.30 p.m. Ships will leave Nanaimo at 6.30 a.m., 2.30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Sunday service by the Princess Mary to Gulf Island points will be discontinued after Sunday, and weekly service will be on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from Vancouver at 9 a.m.

There is no change in the Vancouver-Westview-Comox service except to conform with standard time. Departures from Vancouver will be at 11.45 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays.

Princess Maquinna will leave Victoria at 11 p.m. for west island coast points following return to standard time.

Reaction Said Little Better

"Reaction was better than we expected," said K. G. Mickleborough, chairman of the Red Cross transfusion service. Thursday after a clinic collected 172 pints of blood from employees of B.C. Forest Products.

The clinic brought the total up to 827 pints donated in this week's clinic session, held in Sidney and Victoria.

Mr. Mickleborough said two or three large companies are organizing to have clinics held on their premises in November. Next clinic will be held in Victoria Nov. 13, 14 and 15.

Frederick I, the head of the Holy Romar Empire from 1152 to 1190, was surnamed "Barbarossa" or redbeard.

Will Ask Top Officials For Barge Explanation

Top government and service officials will be asked for explanations on the alleged use of Royal Canadian Air Force men in launching a railway barge at Victoria Machinery Depot yesterday.

Defense Minister Brooke Claxton and Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding [illegible] will be sent letters asking for an "interpretation of the action," a Boilermakers' Union spokesman said.

"Failing a favorable explanation, the matter will be taken to Parliament," he added.

The spokesman said the union has definite proof that men came off the R.C.A.F. craft Snowbird II and assisted in launching the C.N.R. train barge New Westminster 107.

Although the striking 400-member union strengthened picket lines around V.M.D., Yarrows Ltd, and the Dominion Government Drydock, the union executive authorized release of two boilers from one yard for the new TB hospital at Vancouver, and a quantity of plate for Memorial Arena repairs.

Since fountain pen inks have a water base, bottles of this ink may freeze and crack when exposed to severe cold.

Federal scientists estimate there are 2,000,000 harp seals in Canadian Atlantic waters.

Living Cost Main Issue Declares Party Leader

The cost of living is the biggest issue today in Canada, says Solon E. Low, national Social Credit leader.

"More people are concerned about that than any other feature of national life," he stated.

Mr. Low declared the federal government could take effective steps now to halt rising costs. If it doesn't, the cost-of-living index could reach 200, a 100 per cent increase over 1939, very soon.

He blamed Ottawa's hidden taxes for pyramiding prices.

Hidden taxes are unnecessary, he said. The government could cut living costs through a revision of the general tax policy.

Mr. Low challenged the contention of federal government ministers that the Canadian cost of living is lower than that of the United States.

"The cost of living is not as high in the U.S. where the same defense effort is being made," asserted Mr. Low.

He described his current tour of B.C. as "a shot in the arm" for the provincial Social Credit League.

Prospects for the growth of Social Credit in B.C. look excellent, said the party chieftain.

"I never saw a more promising set of conditions except in Alberta in 1935," he declared.

Inquiry Sets Regina Talks

The legislature's hospital insurance inquiry committee will begin meeting Monday in Regina with the Saskatchewan hospital insurance service executive.

On Tuesday the committee expects to meet with the Saskatchewan Hospital Association executive to get its reaction to the plan and compare it to the reaction of the B.C. association executive.

It is not known how many of the inquiry committee will go to Regina. Members have been asked to make the trip if they possibly can.

MODERN IN EVERY MANNER . . .
THE NEW MAIS ELECTRIC STORE

The new Mais Electric at 1821 Cook is modern in every respect. The modern floor showroom, the large fixture display, the dimensional display case are all new and important features. But perhaps the most interesting features of this all-new store is the lighting. Designed to attract customers and particularly geared to cold canvass the motoring public, the new lighting in Mais Electric is based on the most effective approach to modern merchandising. A combination of incandescent and fluorescent equipment is so arranged as to give an over-all coverage of high intensity glare free lighting interspersed with directional spotlights for high-lighting special display pieces. The overall intensity is approximately 60-foot candle with five times this value under the spotlights. The lighting equipment itself is a comparatively recent development, new to Victoria and known as a Modular system and with this equipment an unlimited variety of lighting patterns may be executed. Lighting of the calibre provided by Mr. Mais has an advantage for the customer. It provides ideal inspection lighting to ensure complete customer satisfaction with any purchase.

Basically, the equipment used consists of the more trouble free instant start fluorescent, using long single pin lamps while the incandescent elements are complete in themselves, incorporating sealed in reflectors to minimize intensity depreciation throughout the life of the lamps. In spite of the high intensity, the system provides the high quality features of shielding and brightness control, pointing up the goal to which lighting engineers and manufacturers have been working for years; the provision of higher and higher intensities consistent with extreme visual comfort so that our everyday tasks may be made more attractive and pleasureful. Work then becomes a pleasure and one's physical energy is not depleted through forcing the eyes to needlessly call on the system for additional energy. ***

Phils Down Bums to Even Race

Boxla Team Sounds Off

With the lacrosse season practically over, members of Victoria Shamrocks are able to relax as they did at party and banquet arranged for them at Memorial Arena last night. Players and officials let off a little steam by singing "Sound Off."

Giants in Best Spot After Two-Day Rest

Philadelphia Phillies dealt Brooklyn Dodgers an almost crushing blow last night by squeezing out a 4-3 triumph over the Brooklynites to throw the National League pennant race into an exact deadlock.

The loss left the Dodgers—who held a 13½-game lead only five weeks ago—even with New York Giants in the win and loss columns with two games left for each club.

The advantage now seems to have shifted to the Giants. The Durochermen—winners of 35 of their last 42 games—have benefitted from two days off and will throw Sal Maglie (22-6) against Warren Spahn (22-9) of Boston Braves today. Jim Hearn and Larry Jansen are ready for the deciding game against the Braves tomorrow.

TIRED, JUMPY

The Dodgers, on the other hand, are tired, jittery and confused and have two games left against the Phils. Desperate Charlie Dressen plans to come back with Don Newcombe (19-9), who worked Wednesday and usually doesn't pitch well with less than three days' rest, against Phillie ace Robin Roberts (21-13) tonight. Preacher Roe (22-3) will go again Sunday.

The Phils fought an uphill battle for last night's triumph.

Andy Seminick's home run with one on in the eighth tied the score for the Phils as Carl Erskine failed to hold a three-run lead. The Dodgers, playing cautiously after losing a similar lead to Boston Thursday, got all their runs off Karl Drews.

Biggest blast for Brooklyn was a towering homer by Roy Campanella, which came with no one on in the fifth for the last Dodger run.

SEMINICK CHEERED

A chilled Philadelphia crowd of 18,805 cheered when Seminick came through in the eighth with his 11th homer of the season. Gran Hamner, who had drawn the third walk off Erskine scored ahead of him and made it a ball game.

Up to that time it had been a cautious affair with the Dodgers taking an early lead and playing for one run at a time. But the Phils caught fire once they had tied it up.

Ashburn opened the home half of the ninth with a Texas league single down the left field foul line. Dick Sisler advanced him with a sacrifice and Bill Nicolson was given an intentional pass. Then Jones slashed a single into left centre and Ashburn slid home well in front of Andy Pafko's throw with the winning run.

Clubs Cancel Button Match

The city senior golf button match scheduled between the holders, Bob Fleming and John Merriman, of the Gorge Vale Golf Club, and challengers Bob Morrison and Gordon Verley of the Uplands Golf Club has been canceled.

Morrison is out of town at the present time and will not be back until Monday.

It was to have been the Gorge Vale's first defense of the lapel decorations which they won last week from Vic Painter and Bill McColl of Colwood.

Dodgers Get Good News As Trio Fined, Not Ousted

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—National League president Ford Frick handed Brooklyn Dodgers and their rooters some good news today—cash fines but no suspensions for Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Preacher Roe.

Frick, newly-elected commissioner of baseball, but still acting as chief of the senior loop, fined Robinson and Campanella $100 each and tagged Roe with a $50 penalty for creating a rumpus outside the umpires dressing room in Braves field Thursday.

Frick took no action against Campanella for his actions on the field but he imposed the fines on the three "for causing scenes in the runway and in front of the umpires' dressing room after the game and in the presence of fans and opposing players."

Dodger players admitted that several had booted or pounded the umpires' door—there were two cracks in the panels—but they wouldn't say who did the kicking.

Bombers Blase As Flag Won

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—For the first time in major league history the clinching of a pennant came as something of an anticlimax today, and the victorious New York Yankees, to whom pennants are routine, were hard pressed to summon up the proper enthusiasm.

They had spent their emotions in lauding the no-hit performance of Allie Reynolds in the first game o the day's doubleheader with the Red Sox, and the second victory the one needed to nail down the flag—left them a little blase.

JUST HABIT

They made a brave effort to whoop it up as they entered the clubhouse after the nightcap, but there was something synthetic about it all. Guys such as Joe DiMaggio just don't get excited about something that has become a habit with them.

The wild scene in the Bombers' dressing room after the big Indian had whomped the Sox, 8-0, eclipsed the tumult of the "Victory Celebration" which followed Vic Raschi's 11-3 triumph in the decider.

The twin triumps boosted the Yanks 3½ games ahead of the idle—Cleveland Indians and assured them of their 18th American League pennant in 30 years. It was their third straight upset flag triumph under Casey Stengel.

Reynolds, scoring his 17th decision of the year, permitted only four Boston men to reach first base on passes and choked them off there. He gave the bemused Sox nothing remotely resembling a safety.

The righthander's other no-hitter this season was pitched against his old teammates, Cleveland Indians, July 12 at Cleveland. The only other hurler to notch a pair in the same campaign was Johnny Vandermeer, the storied lefthander who pitched two in succession for Cincinnati back in 1938.

NO WORRIES

Raschi gave up six hits, but he strung the last three of them over the final seven innings and never had a worry after his teammates piled seven runs across in the second chapter. It was his 21st win of the year against 10 defeats.

It was in every respect, a tremendous afternoon for Casey Stengel's "hitless wonders." Of the 23 hits they showered about the stadium, three were home runs. When Joe DiMaggio powdered his 12th homer of the year with two aboard in the second game the crowd of 39,038 gave him an ovation.

The Bombers' final three games tomorrow and Sunday against the Red Sox here will mean nothing. They could lose all three and still finish ahead of Cleveland, even if the Indians sweep their remaining pair with Detroit.

Reynolds never had an anxious moment throughout his great performance. His fast ball was crackling from the start and his curve chopping off the corners. When he struck out three of the first five men to face him it was evident that the chief had his stuff.

Combines Tear Loose in Third Quarter To Crush Peterborough, Lead Series

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 (CP).—Vancouver Combines crushed Peterborough Petes 12-7 tonight in a brutal-checking third game of the best-of-seven Canadian lacrosse final. Vancouver leads the series 2-1 with the fourth game scheduled for here Monday.

The Combines tore loose in the third quarter and outscored the easterners 7-2 to take an almost insurmountable 11-6 lead. It was all square at 4-4 at the half.

Penalties helped to finish off Peterborough. Petes drew 22 minutes in fines compared to 16 for Vancouver. They lost their star defenseman, Harry Whipper, for five minutes in the crucial third period and Combines poured through their weakened defenses.

COMBINES OUTSHOT

Combines checked the heavier Peterboroughs off their feet. The timbermen outshot the westerners, 29-26, but Combines charged them so hard that the big majority of shots were wide of the mark.

The first quarter ended 1-1, with Petes catching up. They come from behind again twice in the second period to leave it 4-4 at the half.

Then Combines, throwing cometlike speed at the Petes, ran around and through the collapsing rearguard to outshoot the Petes 12-6. They made seven of their shots count.

Whipper and Jim Kinna went off for fighting and seconds later Nip O'Hearn of Petes was tossed for slashing. That was the turning point. Vancouver had the man advantage and more room to run. Bob Thorpe had scored early in the period to give Peterborough the lead for the first and only time. Then, in six minutes and 26 seconds, Combines romped in for seven big goals.

SUMMARY

First quarter—1, Vancouver, Stewart, 8:11. 2, Peterborough, Whipper (Crowe), 10:18. Penalties, none.

Penalties, McKenzie, Byford, Whipper (major), Kinna.

Fourth quarter—18, Peterborough, Slater (Dugan), 2:53. 19, Vancouver, MacKay (Stewart), 8:52. Penalties, Powless (major), Tierhurst (major), McKenzie, Slater.

Stengel Ties Mark With Third Pennant

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP).—Casey Stengel, manager of the pennant-winning New York Yankees, tied a major league record today by winning league championships in his first three seasons as manager of the club.

Frank Chance did it in 1906, 1907 and 1908 with Chicago Cubs. Hughie Jennigs of Detroit performed the feat in 1907, 1908 and 1909.

Stengel managed at Brooklyn and Boston in the National League without winning a pennant.

COMBINE LINE-UP

Victoria Combines' line-up for tomorrow's junior soccer game against Heaneys at Lower Beacon Hill at 1 follows: Veitch, Alexander, Wakelyn, LeBus, Booth, Wren, Massie, Burly, Barnes, Blevens, Skinner, Wetherell, Harrison, Carlson, Crisp, Cornish, Smith and Coldwell. All players are requested to be at the field at 12.15.

Now With Royals

IVAN CARR

Veteran Coast Soccer League player, Carr will be at inside right position for New Westminster Royals against Victoria United at Royal Athletic Park today starting at 2.30. Former Vancouver City player, he will have ex-teammate Bill Hislop at centre forward. Royals will present line-up considerably changed from one which finished in league cellar last season.

W. G. Green, Andy Kushner Win City Cup

Andrew Kushner and W. G. Green captured the Rennie and Taylor Cup, emblematic of the city horseshoe pitching doubles championship, at the Opal Street grounds of the Victoria Horseshoe Pitching Association this week.

The Vancouver Island championships for singles and doubles will be played at the Opal Street grounds Sunday. The Colonist Cup is emblematic of the singles crown while the Times Cup is for the doubles.

The James Adam Cup ringer competition is almost completed, with Alex MacDonald, former city champion, the only player left to toss. Alex Fisher leads the pitchers with 28 ringers, a record for the association.

Officials of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club announced last night that play during the coming badminton season, which opens tomorrow, will be held from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. each day. Not 7-11 p.m. as previously announced.

Delay May Cost Cougars $1,000, Favorable Start

By JIM TANG

SASKATOON, Sask., Sept. 28.—Unless the necessary repairs are made at Memorial Arena sooner than anticipated here at the moment, Victoria Cougars will be out as much as $1,000 will see a favorable early schedule lost and may not get home until Oct. 14, six days after their scheduled home opener.

Unable to make any plans until he knows definitely when there will be ice, general manager Fred Hutchinson is naturally upset at the possible delay. In the meantime, he has made tentative plans to keep the club in Vancouver until it has home ice to skate on.

If Victoria's scheduled opener on Oct. 8 has to be postponed, the Cougars will remain in Vancouver to work out on Forum ice until Oct. 11, returning home for the game against Seattle, Oct. 12. If ice is not available for that game either, the Cougars will remain on the mainland until after the Oct. 13 game at New Westminster.

While this means added expense of $100 a day plus cost of ice time and a possible added loss in gate receipts when the postponed games are picked up later in the schedule, the big worry here is whether or not there will be ice by Oct. 16. Saskatoon is due on that date for the first of three games at Victoria and it would be impossible to make up this game if it, too, had to be postponed.

Saskatoon Arena Takes Less Cost, Less Trouble

By JIM TANG

SASKATOON, Sept. 28.—Far more practical, if not as impressive, the Saskatoon Arena has been operated since 1937 with few of the troubles which seem associated with Victoria's unfortunate Memorial Arena.

Built at the foot of Second Avenue, the city's main thoroughfare, the Saskatoon Arena was erected at a cost of $165,000. An additional $36,000 has been spent to install an extra ice machine and a heating unit. After 14 years of service, the building is now valued at $540,000 and citizens here just shake their heads in wonderment when informed that Victoria's folly cost approximately $1,100,000 and has yet to give satisfaction from an operational point of view.

SPACE ECONOMY

There is little waste space in the Saskatoon Arena. Seats run up, in rows, right from the ice surface and are not separated by any horizontal aisles. Vertical passageways are so narrow that you have to move in and out in single file.

The building seats 4,385 and standing room is provided for an additional 1,100 fans. Standing room is divided into sections and extends completely around the arena with three rows permitted to stand on tiers which permit a full view of the ice surface without craning.

The ice surface is 185 feet by 85 feet and the building is managed by Norman Couch, co-manager with Paul Schwager of the Saskatoon hockey team.

Bowness, Bouchard Join Cougars, Give Leger Three Lines for Game

By JIM TANG

SASKATOON, Sept. 28.—Victoria Cougars looked more like a hockey team numerically today. Left-winger Bob Bowness and defenseman Leon Bouchard arrived from Montreal early this morning and took part in both workouts today.

Their arrival will enable coach Roger Leger to send out three complete lines against Saskatoon in tomorrow's exhibition game and still have enough players left over to put two defense combinations in front of Jim Shirley.

Nothing can be said about the possible value of Bowness and Bouchard at this early date, but both worked out well and Bowness had a fine record last season.

BIG FELLOW

A big fellow who looks a lot like Ed Mazur physically, Bowness led the Maritime Hockey League in scoring last season, his second with Sydney, with 87 points. Best of all, 46 of those points were goals. He is six feet three inches tall, weighs 180 pounds and has the same awkward-looking skating style as Mazur. He played with the Three Rivers junior club, joined senior ranks with Port Alfred in the Northern Quebec League in the 1948-49 season and went to Sydney the next season. He was married last May and the pretty Mrs. Bowness is with him.

Bouchard comes to the Cougars fresh from four years as a regular with University of Montreal, probably Canada's outstanding college hockey team. The Carabins won the title in the Canadian intercollegiate senior hockey league and finished second in the provincial intercollegiate league last season. The previous two seasons they won the eastern collegiate championships. Bouchard is 22, five feet 11 inches tall and small for a defenseman at 166 pounds. He appears to be a strong skater and good rusher and could make the jump successfully.

ONE COMBINATION

For tomorrow's game, Bouchard will team with Leger on one defensive combination. Strongman and Goegan form the other.

Up front, Leger will flank Dorohoy with McIntyre and Bowness on one line. Abbott, Frampton and Hebenton form a second attacking unit, and Don Lardner, who played for Swift Current last season after three years with the junior Saskatoon Quakers, centres Evans and Medynski on a third. Lardner has been practising with the Cougars since they arrived.

Against these 14, the Quakers will throw 19 players. Coach Bill Cook stated he intended to use four forward lines and three defensive combinations.

HOME TEAM DUOS

Blue-line duos for the home team will be Howie Milford and Bill Heindl, Murray Parker and Carl Kaizer and Don Crough and Bill Giokas. Up front, the veteran Ken Hunter centres rookies Julius Swick and Bob Manson, Bob Weist will play between Cy Rouse and Alex Kuzma, Chuck McCullough will have Bill Ramsden and Neil Strain as linemates and Tom Fowler will be the pivot for Jack Shave and Ching Dheere.

The Quakers are not using Alex Kaleta, George Senick or Gino Rozzini for the first game. Kaleta and Rozzini need more conditioning and Senick still has to get his clearance from Seattle Ironmen.

Cotnoir's Job Challenge For Quiet Young Shirley

By JIM TANG

SASKATOON, Sept. 28.—What will happen to Victoria Cougars in the early stages of Pacific Coast Hockey League play depends a lot on just what Jim Shirley can produce as a replacement for Jerry Cotnoir.

The quiet, 22-year-old Saskatoon youth is fully aware that filling Cotnoir's pads may be quite a chore but he is happy at the chance to play in the P.C.H.L. and hopeful that his performances won't have Victoria fans clamoring for the agile and popular French-Canadian goalie.

QUESTION MARK

At this stage of training, Shirley must be labeled a question mark. He has neither been outstanding nor bad in workouts. He has, however, shown marked ability to look after the left side of the net with a deft and steady catching hand. It is with cause that he is rated one of Saskatchewan's outstanding catchers. He has been behind the plate for Max and Doug Bentley's strong Delisle baseball club for the past two seasons and baseball fans hereabouts maintain he is without peer in these parts at his position. Shirley is a product of Saskatoon hockey. He came up through minor hockey until he took over between the pipes for the junior Quakers in the 1946-47 season. He turned professional the next season with Detroit and saw some action at Omaha.

He was spare goalie for the Red Wings in the 1948-49 season and returned to amateur ranks last season to play with Boston Olympics in the Eastern United States Hockey League. He is slenderly built with a 71-inch frame packing only 155 pounds and still single.

Eskimo Fans Launch Fund To Aid Injured Star End

EDMONTON, Sept. 28 (CP) — A group of Edmonton Eskimo fans tonight launched a Howard Hansen fund to help the team's star end who lost a son and was seriously injured in an Idaho car crash.

Hansen will be out of the Eskimo line-up the rest of this season.

The fans, who said they want to be anonymous, collected $100 money to pay funeral expenses of Craig Hansen, 3; Hansen's hospital expenses and automobile repair bills; and further education which Hansen planned to take.

In a telephone interview from Edmonton, hospital attendants at Idaho Falls said Craig was admitted about 11 p.m. last night and died early this afternoon.

CAR OVERTURNED

The Hansen car overturned at a corner near Dubois, Idaho, as the footballer was bringing two sons and two sisters to Edmonton.

Hansen's injuries have been diagnosed as a broken ankle, crushed ribs and concussion, the hospital said. He was resting well, and doctors were "not too concerned" about his general condition.

Hansen's 27-year-old sister, Eva, suffered a possible fractured pelvis, cuts and bruises. Another sister, Ruth, 19, suffered shock and bruises but apparently no fractures. Their condition tonight was termed "better."

Hansen's second son, Dennis, two years old, was not seriously hurt, the hospital said, but will be kept under observation for another few days.

Hansen was bringing his motherless sons to Edmonton where he planned to make his permanent home. His wife died last year at Los Angeles, where he played for U.C.L.A. last season.

Athletic Park Set for Game On Trial Basis

The Victoria and District Football Association will stage a game at Royal Athletic Park tomorrow—but on a trial basis only.

Don Gray, secretary of the association, said yesterday that costs for renting Royal Athletic Park have been increased this season so that it costs the association three times the cost of a game at Lower Beacon Hill.

Gray continued that if the fans show enough support, games will be played at the Caledonia enclosure each Sunday, but if not, the games will have to be scheduled at Beacon Hill.

Alcos and Heaneys will meet in the only game today at Lower Beacon Hill; Legion and Victoria West will play at Royal Athletic Park tomorrow, while Esquimalt travels to Duncan to meet the Native Sons on their own grounds.

All games will start at 2.30.

Remember When..

Canadian senior football teams now are studded with American imports, but 15 years ago today all four teams of the eastern Big Four were hard hit by a ruling of the league executive that 10 Americans were ineligible because of residence-ruled violations. Montreal and Hamilton each lost three players and Ottawa and Toronto Argos each lost two.

Cricket Group Winding Up Year

The Victoria and District Cricket Association will end its 1951 season today but only four of the six teams will see action.

The Five C's and Cowichan match, scheduled for Beacon Hill Park, has been canceled owing to Duncan's inability to field a team.

Oak Bay, league champions, and Incogs will meet in the feature game at the University School. Alcos and Albion will play the other game at Macdonald Park. Both will start at 2.30.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

The swing of a good player is firm and crisp without producing muscle tenseness. If your swing is tense all your muscles tend to be rigid and this is at the expense of rhythm. Tenseness produces jerkiness and prevents the sort of coiled-up, spring-like action characteristic of a good swing. Perhaps I can express it by saying you should be gently firm in a golf swing. This is midway between sloppy, loose action and rigidity. Concentrate on what you are doing throughout the golf swing. Never let your mind wander. It is only by concentration that you develop the habit of always making the golf swing correctly. Even the finished player regards concentration as perhaps the most valuable piece of his golfing equipment. When you wish to accomplish something in business, you concentrate—and so it is in golf.

The United Carpet Bowling Club will hold a meeting at the clubrooms, Monday at 8 to make arrangements for the coming season. All members and any others interested are invited to attend.

Tourney Veteran, Mrs. A. Dowell Senior Champ

Mrs. A. Dowell, a veteran tournament winner from the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, added another great golf triumph to her list on Thursday. She became the first winner of the Mrs. A. Blair Paterson Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the recently-formed Vancouver Island Senior Ladies' Golf Association.

Mrs. Dowell's previous successes included city, Colwood and Uplands championships on several occasions. Her greatest feat was in 1939 when she won the British Columbia, city and Colwood titles in a clean sweep of the leading tournaments.

Thursday Mrs. Dowell carded a 95 to win by a single stroke from two Victoria Golf Club members, Mrs. V. Godfrey and Mrs. H. Paterson. Mrs. W. S. Smith of Uplands had a 98 and Mrs. G. Wilton of Nanaimo a 99.

Mrs. J. H. Wilson and Mrs. H. F. Crowe, both of the Victoria Golf Club, tied for low net honors with 79's with the former winning the playoff.

TERMED GREAT SUCCESS

Mrs. V. H. Lawson, president of the association from Colwood, pronounced the tournament "a marvellous affair and an outstanding success." She said it was most fitting that the senior women should hold their first tournament at Colwood and have the first reception in the new clubhouse.

Next year's tournament will be played at Uplands with Mrs. B. H. Anderson of the host club succeeding Mrs. Lawson as president. The association has a closed membership of 100 and has only nine vacancies left. Seventy-seven of the 91 members played in the first tournament, including such veterans as Mrs. R. L. Pocock, Mrs. Charlie Wilson and Mrs. Ernie Todd.

Other prize winners and runners-up:

Low net silver division, Mrs. H. Paterson, runner-up, Mrs. J. F. Dawson.

Slowest Day in Months On New York Exchange

By AP and CP

Stock prices drifted unevenly lower yesterday in the slowest market of the past month at New York.

Selling pressure was light and in only a few cases did losses exceed a dollar a share. But the declines were widespread and held a 479 to 349 edge over the advances, among 1,091 issues

Rails, chemicals and radio-television issues were among the principal losers, but in these sections, as in others individual stocks resisted the trend and made small gains.

Total transactions amounted to only 1,390,000 shares, smallest since Aug. 28.

The A.P. 60-stock averages dropped 30 cents to $99.50, a low since Sept. 11.

MIXED, IRREGULAR

At Toronto stock market prices continued mixed and irregular toward the session's close.

Senior golds held firm on mid-session gains. Reports that the International Monetary Fund might agree to independent gold policies by members nations touched off active buying of producing issues. Eight seniors posted gains up to about $1 and a wide list of juniors recorded penny advances. Prospects edged higher and holding companies were firm.

At Montreal industrials settled in a mixed price path near the close on the stock exchange and curb market following early firmness.

Advances and declines generally ranged to a point or more, while many securities were unchanged.

MODERATE GAINS

At Vancouver announcement that the international controls on sale of industrial gold has been removed resulted in moderate gains in gold stocks. Oils were easy and base metals mixed.

In Winnipeg trading was quite active towards the close of the session on the grain exchange and early advances in coarse grain futures were reduced or erased.

London Market Holds Ground

LONDON, Sept. 28 (Reuters)—There was more than the usual week-end reluctance to extend commitments in the stock exchange today.

Market men were expecting the week-end to be a crisis period and were content to keep positions even despite a fairly widespread feeling that the short-term trend of prices will be downwards. Events in Iran dictated market policy.

Price changes were small. British government stocks were mostly ¼ below the previous closing levels while industrials were mixed. Textiles and rayons were helped by small bear covering but there was dullness in tobaccos and some of the miscellaneous leaders.

Oils were lower where changed with Anglo-Iranian around 5¼. Among foreign bonds initial losses in Germans and Japanese were later replaced by gains.

Movements in minings were narrowly irregular.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 68s; Boots Pure Drug 94s; Canadian Pacific 865¾; Central Mining (2 11-32); Consolidated Gold Fields 58s; Courtaulds 49s; Hudson's Bay Co. 137s 6d; Imperial Chemical 51s 9d; Imperial Tobacco 162s 6d; Metal Box 55s; Mexican Eagle 27s 11½d; Rand Mines 138s 9d.

Bonds: British 2½ per cent consols 64¾; British 3½ per cent war loans 188¾; British fundings 4s 1960-1990 £102 11-16.

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (CP)—The Canadian dollar was up 1/16 of one per cent at a discount of 5 3/16 per cent in terms of United Sates funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today.

The pound sterling was unchanged at $2.79⅛.

B.C. Market For Lumber Seen Firm

The lumber market is expected to remain firm despite uncertain conditions in eastern United States and the dangerously low log supply to British Columbia mills, timber consultants report.

Log stocks were reported low in fir, hemlock and balsam species while cedar stocks have leveled off and the market is strengthening.

The uncertain U.S. condition is an annual event, the report said, as wholesalers hesitate whether to stock heavily for winter lumber supplies or to await possible lower prices in the spring.

The provincial unsettled condition results from the two forest closures prohibiting large-scale logging and the doubt that loggers will be able to work sufficient overtime to restore stocks before winter closes camps.

GOOD DEMAND

A good lumber demand from farmers is expected in Canada and United States following prospects of good crops. A mounting defense program in both countries also should help hold the market firm, the report added.

Posing the biggest threats to the industry, however, are problems of distribution, ability to buy and fluctuations in production and sales.

Fir log stocks continue low, with standard prices from $52.50 to $62.50. Prices for other grades range upwards to $92.50 and $102.50 for No. 1 grade.

Prices on hemlock and balsam logs range from $50 for No. 3's to $70 to $80 for No. 1 grade.

Cedar shingle logs are selling at $40 to $45 for No. 3's and up to $65 to $75 for No. 1 grade. Lumber logs are $70 to $80 for No. 1, and pee wee cedar are trading at $35 to $42.50 flat.

Canadian Policy Next Week

Gold-Selling Curbs Removed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (CP)—The international monetary fund today lifted its curbs against selling fabricated gold for more than the official rate of $35 an ounce.

Each of the 49 countries in the fund now will be free to handle sale of fabricated gold—gold processed primarily for industrial purposes—as it wishes.

In Ottawa, a spokesman for the Canadian Finance Department said Canadian policy on the sale of Canadian gold on the so-called "free" market will be made next week. However, it appeared certain that the Canadian Government's policy would be to allow at least part of Canada's gold production to be sold on the free market.

The United States treasury announced it will continue its policy of holding gold sales to the official monetary rate of $35 an ounce. The U.S., which in the past has opposed any relaxation in restrictions on premium price sale, said it concurred in today's new policy.

CORNERSTONE

The price of $35 an ounce has been the cornerstone for free-world currency evaluations and monetary exchange rates.

Ivar Rooth, managing director of the fund, said in a statement that under the new policy "members are not bound to any particular procedure for handling their external transactions in gold."

"They are not limited to the sale of any specific amount of gold or to any particular proportion of their newly-mined production. Probably some countries will now sell gold that did not engage in such operations before," Rooth said.

In Toronto, financial circles greeted the announcement with a mixture of cheer and caution.

Depending on government policy in regard to allowing sale of Canadian gold in the free market, it was thought that the fund's decision is likely to benefit some gold mines, but that some will still need other assistance.

Canada May Use Caution In Disposing Free Gold

OTTAWA, Sept. 28 (CP).—After months of negotiation, Canada today finally obtained the right to sell her gold on the world's free markets. But it appeared likely she will exercise that right only to a limited degree.

A cabinet decision on Canada's policy is expected early next week, following decision by the International Monetary Fund in Washington today to allow its 49 member countries full freedom in their external gold transactions.

Government officials, faced with the tremendous complications of free-market sales after 20 years of government supervision over exports, said two main problems had to be considered:

1. The extreme delicacy of the government's position in trying to maintain "a firm hand" over gold exports.

2. The question of returns to the producers in view of the fact that the free markets now may become "flooded" with gold, forcing prices down and making benefits to producers "dubious."

However, the government likely will allow a limited proportion of Canada's annual $140,000,000 gold production to reach the so-called "premium or industrial" markets where bar or fabricated gold earlier this year brought as much as $51 (U.S.) a fine ounce, compared with the fund's fixed price of $35 (U.S.).

PRICE-CUTTING

Main reason underlying the officials' fears of a voluminous flow of gold to the free market is the possibility that it may upset international currency stabilization and lead to price-cutting competition on gold between producing companies.

Another is the fund's own view that increasing amounts of fabricated gold are finding their way into the hands of hoarders—buying from the free markets—thus draining the gold reserves needed to back up currencies.

Canada was prepared to abide by the fund's decision to maintain a complete ban on free gold sales, had the fund found some way of restricting the practice by South Africa—the world's top gold producer—from selling 40 per cent of her gold on the free market.

The fund's stand collapsed when Canada and Southern Rhodesia continued pressure and South Africa declined to restrict free market sales.

Still the be reviewed, too, is the government's position on the maintenance of subsidies to marginal mines which may be given the right to sell production on free markets in Paris, Bombay and Hong Kong.

BONDS QUIET

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (CP).—Government issues continued quiet and mainly unchanged on the Montreal bond market today. Convertibles were again off in the corporate section, while the balance of the list was mainly steady. Brazilians were active, selling off between 104 and 106 after opening at around 108 to 109.

All of Canada's 10 provinces are touched by sea water except Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The Indian population of Canada, approximately 140,000, constitutes roughly one per cent of the total.

Rain Quick To Brighten Job Picture

Fewer people were out of work this week in Victoria according to Unemployment Insurance Commission reports. The number of jobs still vacant showed a slight increase.

The recent rain made no immediate difference in the employment picture.

There is still a good demand for [illegible] particularly automotive mechanics and body and fender men and reports from national employment offices show a need for other workers in highly trained professions.

Women workers still in great demand continue to be domestics, waitresses and stenographers. There is almost no demand for sales personnel.

Your Health And Weight

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ADJUSTMENT OF APPETITE TO WORK DONE

In the average individual in good health the body adjusts itself to the food intake and the food intake adjusts itself to the work done by the body. It is known that normally about 90 per cent of the food eaten is absorbed from the bowel, regardless of the size of the meal. Accordingly, the only means available for the body automatically to adjust food intake to the needs is the appetite.

We known that normally our daily intake of food is adjusted to the daily output of energy or work. Men engaged in heavy physical work usually have greater appetites and consume more food than men who sit most of the day or do very light work. The same individual automatically increases or decreases his food intake in periods of increased and decreased muscular activity.

The adjustment of appetite to increased amount of work is usually very prompt in that hunger may follow the increased amount of activity almost immediately, while decrease of work or activity may not cause a prompt corresponding decrease of appetite. This explains why so many men who work or play hard and then begin to give up exercise or physical work find that although they have less need for food, they continue to eat the same large amounts and so increase in weight.

On the other hand when an individual has been sick or under mental or emotional strain and has lost much weight, when he recovers he develops an appetite that is greater than before his loss of weight from illness or strain. Evidently in this state, adjustment of appetite to work done is overruled by a special factor which causes the individual to eat more than his output of work or energy. When, in this way, his habitual or usual weight has been restored, the adjustment of appetite to actual work done resumes its usual condition.

If the individual goes slightly above his normal weight the adjustment of appetite to calorie output (work done) is again overruled by a specific factor, apparently depending in some way on the now overfilled protein and fat depots. The individual then eats less than is needed for work done until his habitual weight is restored.

In his book, "Obesity and Leanness" Dr. Hugo Rony states that greatly increased work or extreme loss of fat and proteins in tissue depots sometimes may fail to increase the appetite, showing that there is some breakdown in the adjustment mechanism. Further, in the ordinary healthy individual the adjustments of appetite following moderate decrease in body reserves are normally less efficient than those following moderate increase of body reserves, which is probably the main reason for the general tendency to gain some weight as we grow older.

It is in this use the appetite does not decrease despite less [illegible] being done that has made popular the use of drugs to decrease the appetite namely Benzedrine Sulfate, Dexedrine Sulfate and diet pills.

HAPPY SURPRISE

The Lady Mouse Teacher of Hollow Tree School and all her pupils in the woods looked at Uncle Wiggily [illegible]

[illegible]

"Was that what we were going farther into the woods to see or to hear Mr. Longears?" asked the teacher.

"No, Miss Mouse," I wasn't answered Uncle Wiggily. "The noise is as much a surprise to me as it is to you, and the children. But do you be frightened. A noise can never hurt you."

"But whoever made the noise might," [illegible] "[illegible] daddy?" asked Buster, the Rabbit boy.

"Yes, I suppose it could," answered Mr. Longears.

"Do you want me to go in the bushes and find out who made that noise?" Buster asked.

"No, not now," said the [illegible] uncle.

"[illegible] the telephone to Chief, the house dog?" asked Bunty.

"There isn't any telephone here in the woods," said Buster.

"Oh, that's right! I forgot!" said Bunty. "But I brought with me Priscilla, my doll. Maybe she could help us, Uncle Wiggily."

"How could she, my dear?" asked Mr. Longears [illegible] as he twitched his pink nose again.

"Daddy can make music when I wind up a spring in her back," said Bunty. "And maybe whoever made the noise would go away when he heard music."

"Shall I get Priscilla to play music?"

"Well, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily, "I am not so sure."

[illegible]

"Daddy, maybe that's someone after you," exclaimed Buster. "Shall I get all my hatchet-men together and throw stones at him?"

"Wait until we see [illegible]," said Mr. Longears. "I have not heard his name called so I think the voice doesn't [illegible]."

[illegible] more the [illegible] shouted.

Medicos Now Ready For Field Surgery

OTTAWA, Sept. 27 (CP)—Medical teams equipped to do surgical operations on the battle field will leap into action with Canada's paratroopers in any defense of Canadian soil, the army said today.

It said Canada's first airborne army medical unit, the 37th Field Ambulance of the R.C.A.M.C., has reached an advanced stage of preparation at Camp Borden, Ont.

The unit is the medical component of the mobile striking group, the paratroop and airborne formation earmarked for the defense of Canada and known as the 23rd Brigade.

Under Lt. Col. Clive B. Caswell, 41 of Ormsby, Ont., the 37th Field Ambulance began paratroop training last fall at the Rivers, Man., base which has turned out thousands of these specialist soldiers in the last few years.

Once the men learned how to jump, to pack and lash equipment in transport planes and how to go airborne in gliders they went to Camp Borden to apply these basic lessons to the requirements of their own craft.

The heart of the unit's flying component is the surgical team. Three such teams one for each fighting infantry battalion are ready to jump into the battlefield. Each surgical team, consisting of a surgeon, an anaesthetist, operating room assistants and medical assistants, will drop with complete field operating room equipment including surgical instruments, drugs and dressings.

Often paratroops must drop into isolated positions where there is little hope of quick relief. The army said. Casualties cannot be evacuated immediately. The surgical team would be able to set up an operating room on the battlefield.

Ready for any emergency, the unit will be able to do major surgery in the field.
